Man Listed In Fair Condition

LINDSAY (ENS) — A Lindsay man seriously injured last Friday when the half-ton truck he was driving crashed into a C.N.R. train near Oakwood is listed in fair condition today at Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay.

Bradley McKnight, 23, of 31 Pottinger Street, Lindsay suffered a ruptured spleen, fractured ribs and right arm.

The vehicle, owned by Peterborough Automotive Supply of Lindsay, was totally wrecked when it hit the rear of the engine of the four-unit train en route to Lindsay. Lindsay O.P.P. estimated damage to the engine at $500.

The crash occurred at a level crossing just south of Oakwood near the Hogg and Lytle Feed Plant. There are no mechanical warning signals or barriers at the crossing.

The train was eastbound and the truck was travelling north.

The train crew comprised of Engineer James Hope, Brakeman Thomas Pasquino, John Nesbitt and Fireman and Conductor Samuel Hancock, all of Lindsay.

Bradley McKnight lived in Minden before taking up residence in Lindsay.

Students Attend Community College

There are nine graduates of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School attending community colleges in Ontario.

These students at Sir Sandford Fleming are: Wayne Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brown of Haliburton, Ontario; Brock Kellett, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Kellett of Minden, Ontario; Helen Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Martin of Kilmount, Ontario; Sherilyn McCrea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. McCrea of Tory Hill, Ontario; Dawn Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace of Wilberforce, Ontario; Joseph Weiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Weiss of Minden, Ontario; Julia Woodcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Woodcock of Haliburton, Ontario.

In the December examinations Sherilyn McCrea stood first with 84% in the Secretarial Science course and Brock Kellett with 78% stood first in the Electrical Technician's course. All the other students are passing.

Weather Report

At the time of writing the weather continues to remain in the mid thirties under sunny skies. At the present time there is no real amount of snow. The weather conditions as they are now will be ideal for the Minden Winter Carnival, but a little more snow could be a help.

Lyle Pearsell

Citizens of this area were both shocked and saddened on Sunday last when they learned that Lyle Pearsell had departed from our midst.

This young man, had he so desired, could well have had a promising career ahead of him, and just what possessed him to go suddenly end his life will remain a mystery to his many friends.

On Monday afternoon a funeral service for the deceased was held from the Haliburton United Church, with the Rev. Ronald McCaw in charge.

To the immediate family we join in offering our heartfelt sympathy at this time, especially to the father Roy, who has not had for the most part what we would regard as a happy pleasant life by any means.

Businessmen's Assoc. Hold Executive Meeting

A meeting of the Executive of the Haliburton Businessmen's Association was held on Wednesday evening last when a number of items having to do with this area came up for discussion.

First on the agenda was the matter of water and sewage, and the Secretary Mr. Glenn Austin read a letter from the Ontario Water Resources Commission outlining the steps that had been taken to provide the Village of Haliburton with these facilities. The letter also stated that a full report on this matter would be made not later than September of this year. We understand that Council have received a copy of his letter.

The clean up and paint up campaign inaugurated by the businessmen last spring was deemed highly successful, but there is much yet that could be done in this connection. It was recommended that another campaign of this nature will be held in June.

That stretch of highway leading from the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School to the village is regarded by those travelling it as a traffic hazard, and Mr. Glen Hodgson, M.P.P., will be asked to use his influence with the Department of Highways to see if it would be possible to have guard rails installed where the edge of the road drops off steeply between the highway and the C.N.R. tracks.

It was decided to apply some pressure to the Department of Transport in Ottawa with a view of having the channel which runs from Grass to Head Lakes cleared of stumps and driftwood. Why the Department of Transport has not taken action in this matter long ago is beyond us.

The matter of store and restaurant hours also came up for discussion, however, this matter can only be resolved when the businessmen as a whole can sit down and hammer out some kind of an arrangement whereby the general public can become acquainted as to what hours different businesses are open.

When the matter of the large amount of surface water lying on our streets during mild spells came before the meeting it was stated that the situation had now been cleared up. The drains, which would normally have carried the water away, were frozen but are now reported to be open.

Other items discussed were signs on Highway 35, and at the entrance of the Village of Haliburton it is hoped to have same in use before the tourist season.

When the matter of a winter carnival came before the meeting Glenn Austin, who has charge of the Rotary Carnival Parade, stated that in his opinion that we simply did not have help available to stage such an event. A tremendous amount of work must be expended to stage a successful carnival at any time, and in the winter you always have the weather to contend with.

Many other matters slated for discussion were left over, and the Echo will be keeping you informed as to what is going on as the Executive have kindly made it possible for us to be an observer at their meetings.

Winter Carnival This Weekend

The Minden Winter Carnival was cancelled last weekend due to mild weather, but the big event is on this weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 9, 10 and 11.

The big weekend opens on Friday night at 7 p.m. with all the main attractions being held in the Arena. The highlight will be the crowning of the Carnival Queen.

On Saturday the ever popular Kawartha Cavaliers Drum and Bugle Band will be in Minden for a drill exhibition to kick off a day of hockey, bowling, figure skating, broomball, curling, snowmobile meet and many other attractions too numerous to mention.

On Saturday a giant parade will be held on the Main Street, and the opening ceremonies will take place in the Arena at 2 p.m.

On Sunday many more outstanding attractions will take place. Plan now to attend the Minden Winter Carnival. You'll be glad you did.

Outstanding Movie Coming

The Academy Award winning movie of 1937 "A Man For All Seasons" will be playing at both the Beaver Theatre in Minden and the Molou Theatre in Haliburton this coming Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 9, 10 and 11.

This film, winner of six Academy Awards including Best Picture of the Year, is now at regular prices.

Plan now to see Fred Zinnerman's film "A Man For All Seasons", playing at the Beaver and Molou Theatres this Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Beginning Of Film Series

A sampling of 20th Century Sculpture is the name given to the evening of films planned for screening by the Haliburton School of Fine Arts for Saturday evening, February 10 at 8:00 p.m. at the Art Center in Haliburton.

The first film, "Encounter In The Dark", is an informal discussion between Sir Kenneth Clark and Henry Moore which brings out the relationships between work of long dead sculptors and that of Moore himself. Those who have seen the "Archer" at the new City Hall in Toronto, or have read of the controversy it caused, will be interested in learning about the philosophy of its creator.

"Spiel In Stahl" is the second film. This presents the work of a young sculptor, Klaus Ihlenfeld, who has an abstract style but works with the craftsmanship and knowledge of machinery of a skilled metal worker.

The work of Barbara Hep-worth, beloved English sculptress, is presented in the third film. This film illustrates some influences of her work and the artist's feeling for shapes of nature.

A discussion will follow the screening. Photographs of works of other sculptors will also be on display for those attending.

Pee Wees Win

The Haliburton Pee Wees opened their O.M.H.A. Play-off on a winning note on Monday night at the Haliburton Arena when they defeated Fenelon Falls by the score of 6 to 1.

On Wednesday night Haliburton defeated Fenelon Falls 11-0 in Fenelon Falls to take the best of three series two games to none.

The Haliburton Pee Wees will be playing in the Little N.H.L. Tournament in Minden this Saturday.

Hart House Glee Club Coming

The Hart House Glee Club of the University of Toronto are coming to the Haliburton Highlands to give a Concert at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. The date is Friday, February 23 and the starting time is 8:00 p.m. Tickets, at $1.00 each, are available from students of the High School.

We should consider ourselves fortunate to be included in the Glee Club's limited tour this year. They go from here to concerts in Ottawa, Kingston and Guelph — a very busy weekend with a great deal of travelling. The least we can do is show our appreciation by having a large audience to enjoy their musical evening.

Excerpts from reviews of the Tri-University Concert, held in the Great Hall of Hart House on November 23, 1963, in the Toronto Star by Raymond Pannell: "The third group, Hart House, had a standard of exceptional calibre. Winning vocal tone, precision, clear diction, balance, carefully controlled and imaginatively varied dynamics were all displayed with excellence. Walter Barnes conducted with a spacious sense of phrasing, allowing relaxed, natural breathing and thus giving a fluent ease to the efforts of his singers."

Haliburton Rink Wins Spiel

When it comes to curling Joe Iles of the Haliburton Curling Club seems to have the magic touch. Just recently he skipped a rink to victory in the Skyline Bonspiel at Haliburton, and last weekend he skipped an entirely different rink to victory in Bancroft, and the Haliburton rink won first prize and the Hiram Walker Trophy.

The winning rink had Joe Iles as skip, Jack Robertson as vice, Ken Rosenberg as second, and Jack Hunter as lead.

The Iles foursome, on their way to the top, defeated two rinks from Belleville, two from Bancroft, and one from Trenton, final game after having a six-ender scored against them in the third end.

The Haliburton rink won the Boy Scout News

The Haliburton Boy Scouts have a busy weekend coming up. On Sunday, February 11 the Boy Scouts will be on a Church Parade to the Lakeside Baptist Church in Haliburton and will attend the service there at 11 a.m. On Tuesday, February 13 the Scouts will hold their Annual Father and Son Banquet at the Legion Hall, Haliburton.

Letters To The Editor

February 6, 1968.

Mr. B. Feir, Editor,
Haliburton County Echo,
Haliburton, Ontario.

Dear Mr. Feir:
Other years hockey teams in Haliburton have received publicity and support through your paper, but this year there has not been a regular sports section in the Echo. Bits and pieces do not give adequate coverage. The Lindsay paper, for example, includes each week league standings, individual scoring leaders and other facts the fans would like to know.

The Haliburton Huskies have displayed skill and determination that has brought them to within one point of first place standings, and have provided fans with thrilling entertainment. As a top team they deserve to have their efforts publicized. The newspaper's evident lack of interest has been discouraging.

I am asking that your paper support hockey as it supports other public projects. The playoffs begin soon. Please give the team the encouragement it needs.

Sincerely yours,

Kristine Sisson.

Haliburton And Woodville Battle To A Tie

The Haliburton Huskies and the Woodville Maroons battled to a 4-4 tie at the Haliburton Arena on Saturday night last in the final game of the Ontario Junior 'D' O.H.A. regular schedule for these two teams.

Playing before a good crowd at the Arena both teams went all out in a rough and fast skating contest.

The Huskies who seem to be in top-notch form for the playoffs, opened up with a two goal lead in the first period when Danny Roberts and Craig Stamp dented the twine. From where we were sitting it looked at this point that the Haliburton crew had the game well in hand, but the second period was a different story. Woodville added three goals in the second while the Haliburton team could only score once. This left the game tied at 3-3.

The third period was only two minutes old when Woodville went ahead 4-3 on a goal by Laird. At the 8:03 mark of the final period Lyle Sawyer scored for Haliburton on a pass from Neil Hewitt to tie the game at 4-4, and that's the way it ended. Both clubs had plenty of scoring opportunities in the final minutes but Hart in goal for Haliburton and McKague in goal for Woodville were unbeatable.

NOTES ON THE GAME — The Haliburton defence were outstanding in this game . . . the Haliburton team seemed to carry the play but were robbed on several occasions around the Woodville net . . . the play-offs will be underway this week and the Huskies are quite confident that they can get by the first round, something they have been unable to do in the past two seasons.

THIS I REMEMBER BY GING

Mrs. Hoxie's Scrapbook was so full of interest that the writer has been neglecting some of the other facets of life in our village at the turn of the century. With 1968 at last a reality and with the kind permission of "Ye Editor" she hopes to add a few more remembrances. Today's story is entitled

A LOOK TO THE EAST

Our house was in a strategic position for knowing what went on in the village. The previous articles have dealt with school and church and winter life and the things most familiar to 'Ging'. This time we hope to take a look in the other direction.

Next door to us was Dr. William Giles' store, office and house, to the rear of which was a large driveway, stable and pig pen. Our dining room window and our kitchen window too, overlooked this interesting spot.

We couldn't see into Anderson's yard as the high wall of the driveway formed our back fence. But we had one great advantage, as far as seeing what went on was concerned. We got our water at Anderson's pump. A path led from our side door to a small gate under the willows and thence to the fascinating world beyond it.

Dr. Giles' yard was a different matter. All we had to do was kneel on the sofa and peer through the geraniums on the window sill, and all its wonders were spread before our eyes. Here the country people, who dealt there, could be watched climbing down from their wagons and disappearing to shop and get their mail and sometime later loading up their flour, sugar and coal oil, etc.

The most exciting arrival was that of Walter Parrish — a big good-natured man, heavily bearded, who was known to everyone as Sonny. He continued to drive a yoke of oxen long after most people had horses. These patient creatures would stand by the hour much to our delight. They had (if the writer's size at the time hasn't made them seem so) longer horns than the ones driven by Mr. Burke and, depicted in "Early Days in Haliburton", Ging who regarded them with awe is supposed to have remarked at a very early age, "Sonny Parrish's oxen have their horns turned up and their corns turned down."

There was no cellar under the Giles house, a real lack in those days. As a substitute, they built a large root house, sloping towards us, and on it was constructed a platform and a pull clothes line that ran parallel with our windows. One of our amusements was to watch Mrs. Giles, or whoever she had helping her at the time, hang out the clothes and pull them across the yard to blow in the sun, or drip in the rain, or freeze solid on winter days. Sometimes we weren't up early enough, for Mrs. Giles prided herself on being about the first one in the village to have her clothes on the line. She was so much ahead of the rest of us that it was rumoured that she sorted and put them to soak on Sunday. Remembering this, one can't help but wonder what our forbears would think of today's Sunday occupations.

The three children, at the window next door, watched with great interest as sheets and tablecloths, lace edged pillow cases and embroidered petticoats, Greta and Irene's dresses and Willie and Hillary's sailor suits danced on the line in the breeze. Their own clothes line was a reel, with a platform made of a huge four-inch plank approached by two stout steps, and was not very interesting except on the occasions when Uncle George used it for a platform to put on a Punch & Judy show for their entertainment.

Between the two properties ran a high board fence, screened at the front by lilacs, a mountain ash tree and a balm of Gilead. The house was a few feet back from the fence, and many an hour we spent there visiting over the fence with Greta and Irene.

At the south end of the Giles property was a row of buildings which housed the Doctor's horse, the family cow and a pig or two, and there may have been chickens as well. A drive shed bounded the property on the east if I remember correctly.

The pigs lived next door to our wood shed and were a noisy lot. One morning they were squealing even more loudly than usual, in fact very loudly indeed. We could hear a great commotion, men's voices mingled with the squeals and finally the unmistakable voice of Mr. Joe Paul was heard to demand "Give us the knife, boy". At this very exciting moment Miss Bain appeared on the scene and scooted us out of the back kitchen in great haste, saying "Come away at once". When we chorused "Why?" she replied "It's no place for little girls. Mr. Paul is going to kill a pig!"

As all this happened long before cars came to Haliburton, a horse at that time played a very important part in a doctor's life. Dr. Giles' horse was not like any other horse in the nine townships I am sure. Unlike the beautiful black carriage horses that were Uncle Ed's pride and joy, the doctor's was a medley of colours applied to his hide in large blotches. Miss Bain said he was a piebald.

Who harnessed this horse every day I have no idea — perhaps the doctor did it himself. But most days it would stand hitched to a rather sagged old black buggy, its head down, patiently waiting. Presently came Dr. Giles, armed with his black bag and usually looking pale and tired. Off he went on his rounds, often many miles into the country over the dreadful roads, sometimes not returning till far, far into the night. He was the only doctor for miles and must have had no real rest day or night. It was not unusual for him to arrive home sound asleep. His horse's piebald hide covered a faithful reliable heart and no matter how far Dr. Giles had journeyed, winter or summer, rain or snow or sunshine, he always got back safely to his own door-yard, asleep or awake.

Dr. Giles' office would be considered very queer by today's standards. It occupied a very small area in the southeast corner of the store, which at that time was not at all large. There must have been a desk, I suppose, but all the writer remembers is the bright colours of the apothecary bottles and the dentist's chair which seemed to dominate the place. Our village did not boast a dentist. Dr. Neelands came up from Lindsay at regular intervals but cases of tooth-ache were dealt with very capably by Dr. Giles.

This operation was both dreaded and looked forward to, for each victim who didn't fuss was rewarded with a "poke" or candy from the store. After a few reassuring words, with the patient seated in the chair, Dr. Giles would say, "Now let's have a look at that tooth", the dreaded forceps meanwhile hidden behind his back. A quick twist and a quicker yank and out it came. At the same moment Wilkie would appear with the candy, the tooth was examined and presented to the patient who bore it proudly home to put it under the mat. Dr. Giles' parting remark invariably being "Be sure to keep your tongue out of the hole and a gold tooth will grow".

Wilkie, a tall thin Englishman whose proper name was Wilkinson, managed the store, assisted in the afternoon and evening by Mrs. Giles. Later Mr. Frank Austin was employed there. Mrs. Giles was Mr. Douglas Kellett's daughter. Mr. Kellett was proprietor of Queen's Hotel, east of Mr. James Dover's property. It burned down before my day, and the lot was vacant from that time till the L.C.B.O. purchased it.

There were six children in the family, Greta, Irene, Willie, Hilary, Pauline and Murray. Greta who was about two years my senior died of meningitis about 1904.

Dr. Giles took a tremendous interest in the affairs of the affairs of the community. He was Reeve of Dysart for eight years, first from 1896 to 1900, then from 1903 to 1905 and from 1907 to 1909, and was Warden of the County in 1899 and again in 1909. He and my father were friends, and as Dr. Giles was a Liberal and my father, H. H. Clarke, a Conservative they frequently, at election time, paired off and took advantage of the cheap fares on the railroad to take a trip to Oshawa, which was the Doctor's old home and where my father had relatives, or to go to Toronto on business.

The account of the Hockey Ball in 1910 states that the presentation of medals to the hockey team was made by Dr. Giles of Oshawa. The family had left Haliburton in 1909, having sold the house and store to Charles D. Kellett, Mrs. Giles' brother. A few years later they moved to Toronto.

Mrs. Hoxie's Scrapbook tells us that Dr. William Giles died at his residence on Pacific Avenue in his 62nd year, that he graduated from Trinity College in 1888, and was well known in Toronto, and many parts of Ontario. He was born near Oshawa in 1860 and practised medicine in Haliburton until 1909.

Dr. Giles was also the first Master of North Entrance Lodge, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, which received its charter in 1903. He was also a member of Midland Chapter No. 94 and Moore Preceptory of Lindsay, as well as Rameses Shrine of Toronto.

BEAUTIFUL DREAMERS

We had quite a discussion in class the other day about dreams. School kids have a natural reluctance to revealing their inner selves, especially to teachers and parents, but after we got warmed up, I was wishing I'd had a tape recorder. It was fascinating. It removed barriers.

The whole thing was sparked by a short passage of poet Dylan Thomas's recollections of childhood, in which life is as jumbled and unreal as a dream. It ends, "The memories of childhood have no order, and no end."

Thomas dreamed, later in life, that he could fly, as a child. I've had this dream many times, and I waken from it feeling wonderful, but then a terrible sadness comes over me as I realize it was just a dream.

Some of the kids have had the same dream. It takes different forms. Some flap their arms until they gain altitude, then just sort of glide. Mine is always the same. I take a long, running broad-jump, and by sheer will power, keep my feet from touching down again. I never get more than 10 inches off the ground, but I'm flying, swiftly and easily and surely, swooping around obstacles and absolutely free of the surly earth.

One boy admitted a recurrent dream in which he is at bat in the World Series, bases loaded, a home-run needed to win the game. Seventy thousand people are screaming, "Come on, Dan! You can do it." Then comes the sick realization that the mob is his mother, shaking him and saying, "Come on, Dan! Come on, Dan! Time to get up for school."

Same chap confessed to a dream that would fascinate Sigmund Freud. He was buying a new pair of pants. Tried them on, took them off for the tailoring, came out and found his old pants gone. He walked all the way home with no pants, and wasn't the least bit embarrassed.

A girl confessed that she often dreams that she is the centre of things, a big Broadway star just about to launch into the greatest musical in history, with every eye on her. She is the girl least likely to be a great star, though a delightful person who will make an excellent nurse, a grand wife and mother.

Another girl has nightmares about big dogs who are always going to eat her. Still another dreams of cowboys and Indians, and she's always the cowboy. And by golly, she looks like a cowboy. She's long-legged and laconic, a Grade 12 Gary Cooper who needs only a hand-rolled Bull Durham smoke to complete the image.

Another boy dreams that he has had a sword run through him, but doesn't feel a thing. From there we get into the business of whether or not you can feel and smell and hear in dreams, whether they're in color. Then we get into the theory that if you have a nightmare, and actually hit bottom at the end of that fall; or that the monster catches up with you, you'll die because your heart will stop.

This kid came up to me today and said, "Sir, last night I dreamt I fell six storeys and I hit bottom, and I didn't die."

"Did you bounce?" I enquired, "or did you unconsciously spread your wings and land gently?"

"Nope, I landed hard, but I just lay there, all sort of spread out, but not hurt and not dead. I was trying to jump into a puddle and I missed it."

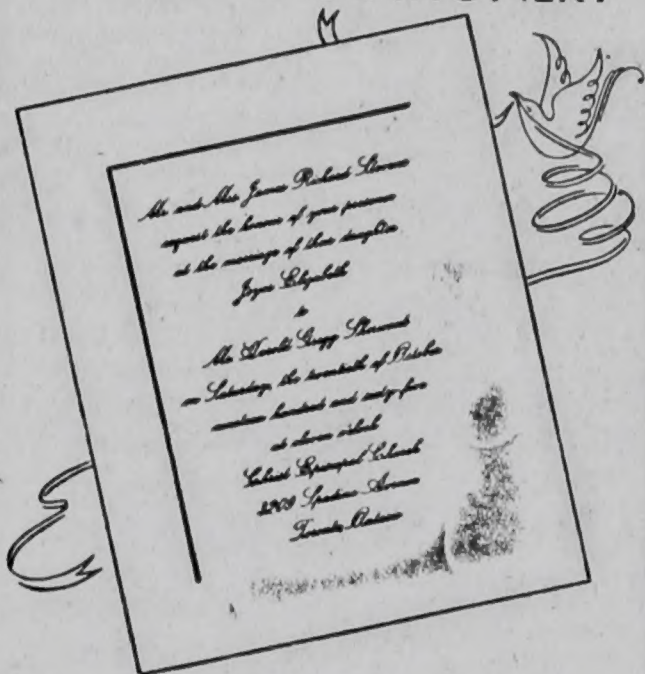

"Glad you're still with us," I countered, "but you've ruined one of our theories." He was delighted. He was the one who has the sword run through him about once a week, and doesn't feel a thing. Another teacher's theory squelched.

Dreams are great; I'm all for them. Even nightmares are good for you. You can wake up with pounding heart, in a cold sweat, scared out of your living wits, but what can compare with that relief, that glorious comfort as The Thing gradually fades, and you realize that you are alive and it is warm and safe and snug in your own bed.

The only thing that is boring about dreams is when other people try to describe theirs.

OBITUARY

CHRISTENA MAUDE ROGERS

On Sunday, January 14, 1968 Christena Maude Rogers entered into eternal rest in the village of Minden.

Mrs. Rogers was born in the Township of Minden in 1901, the second youngest daughter of Joseph and Helen Hughes. From this home she attended public school at Anson No. 2 and the Mitchell Bridge School.

In May 1919 she was employed by Mrs. Robert Moore, operating the Moorefield Lodge resort on Lake Boshkung, Township of Stanhope, and in October of that year she married John Wesley Moore, third son of Robert and Mary Moore.

In the early 1930's they moved to New Ontario, remaining there for some four years. The family returned to Minden Township, residing on the farm some one and a half miles northeast of the village.

During these years four children were born to the couple, Robert of Eagle Lake, Mary Shultz of St. Catharines, M. Sgt. Raymond W. Moore of Sunny-meade, California, and Alex H. of Ottawa, Ontario.

John W. Moore died on July 8, 1955, and Mrs. Moore carried on the Minden home, where they had moved from the farm some years earlier, until 1959. Then she came to keep the home of Clayton P. Rogers, whose wife Ida Mary (sister of John W. Moore) died in March.

In June of 1931 Maude Moore married Clayton P. Rogers, and they resided at the Carnarvon home in the summer and the Minden residence in the winter, up to the date of her death.

Always a lover of outdoors, this couple spent many happy days on the Moorefield Acres property at Lake Boshkung.

The funeral was held from the Zion United Church, with the service being led by Rev. Ron McCaw of Haliburton.

The three sons and son-in-law Arthur Schultz, grandson Jerry Schultz and Walter J. Harper, son-in-law of Clayton P. Rogers, were the pallbearers.

The body was temporarily placed in the Vault of Evergreen Cemetery, Haliburton, awaiting burial in Zion Church Cemetery, Carnarvon, in the family plot.

Besides her husband, Clayton P. Rogers, she is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Fred Snell of Haliburton.

The communities of Minden and Carnarvon have lost a fine neighbour and a true and trusted friend.

It is expected that Mr. Rogers will end his days at the Carnarvon home.

Haliburton County Echo,

Dear Sir:

Please find enclosed a letter from Canadian National Railways which we think would be of interest to the residents of the County.

Yours truly,

G. W. Martin Lumber Limited

Belleville, Ontario,

25 January, 1968.

File: R5105-H-9.

Mr. G. W. Martin, President,
G. W. Martin Lumber Limited,
Harcourt, Ontario.
Dear Grenville:

Thank you for your letter of 15 January, 1968. I fully appreciate your concern that our service at Haliburton should not be permitted to deteriorate. I am only sorry that I was not able to get in touch with you when in Haliburton recently on a customer "blitz". Perhaps I can set out in this letter something of our plans involving the Haliburton territory.

Removal of the Agent does not mean a withdrawal or even a reduction of service. It is only one feature in our plans to establish a complete up-to-date service centre at Peterborough, under whose sphere of influence Haliburton would come. The service centre or Master Agency Plan is Company policy on both major Railways in Canada, and the programme of implementation is taking effect virtually from coast to coast. Haliburton and Fenelon Falls are not isolated cases, and in fact, I expect it will not be very long before the small Agency, as we have known it for many years, will become obsolete.

One of the main reasons is that today's sophisticated materials handling and communications equipment is too expensive to install at each of the hundreds of small agencies across the country, and this fact, coupled with rising labour costs, has compelled us to take a close look at how we can best rearrange our resources to take advantage of these modern facilities, while at the same time controlling costs. Notwithstanding the necessity for economy where it is warranted, we are keenly interested in providing the most reliable and up-to-date services within our means. The Master Agency programme is already proving in hundreds of communities to be the best method yet discovered to alleviate cost burdens without prejudicial effects on our patrons and the communities we serve.

The plan for Haliburton would involve the replacement of the Agent with a Representative who would operate in the current station building and provide all of the services now available for express traffic through the Agent. This would include pick-up and delivery service, handling of C.O.D.'s, etc.

A Zenith telephone service will be available 1 April, 1968, providing toll free telephone service for our patrons between Haliburton (including yourself, on the Wilberforce exchange) and Peterborough. This free telephone service will apply on carload, express and telecommunication services. A mechanized car control office is being established in the Peterborough Service Centre, staffed with a full-time employee to expedite the ordering, placing, switching and movement of empty and loaded cars. For example, if you wish to ship a car, you will call the Zenith number indicated for carload service and give the bill of lading particulars to the Peterborough Office on the telephone. This would start the car forward on the next train from Haliburton, and the actual bill of lading could be handled through the mail, or given to the train crew, whichever is more convenient for your own operation. With respect to inbound cars, you would be telephoned from Peterborough with advice of cars arriving at Haliburton or elsewhere for unloading or placement for loading, as the case may be.

I am confident you will find the above arrangements at least as good as the current setup. If not, however, please do not hesitate to contact me at any time.

Your letter indicates that you are somewhat anxious concerning the future of the Rail line itself. While all branch lines are constantly under review by Railway management, let me assure you that there are no plans now or in the foreseeable future to discontinue rail service at Haliburton.

I am aware that there are some plans for future expansion in the area in question, and we sincerely hope that these bear fruit to our mutual advantage. I hope also that your own plans for expanding your use of our services will materialize. Kindest personal regards.

Yours truly,

CHURCH NEWS

RICHMOND COLLEGE PERSONNEL VISIT HIGHLANDS

Youth Rendezvous, a County-wide church-based young people's group, invited a group of men to visit our County over the first weekend in February. In co-operation with other organizations Mr. Ron Marr, Director of Development for Richmond College, and the Rev. E. S. McVety came up on Friday and returned to Toronto on Sunday.

Richmond College is Canada's newest university and is presently able to grant degrees in Arts and Science. Negotiations are underway to achieve interchangeability of courses with York University. The College, begun in Canada's Centennial Year, is an attempt to re-establish a conservative Christian presence in the university life of Canada. All faculty members must sign a statement of faith annually. At the present some of the faculty are shared with York University and other educational institutions.

On Friday evening Mr. Marr addressed a group of about 80 teenagers in the new Harcourt Community Church. He was very well received as he dealt with youth's search for the meaning of life.

On Saturday about 40 men gathered at Scotty's Green Acres to hear Mr. Marr and Rev. McVety. This banquet meeting was planned by the Christian Men's Fellowship.

On Sunday morning Mr. Marr spoke at Minden's Gospel Church and Mr. McVety addressed the congregation at the Full Gospel Lighthouse in Haliburton. The ministry of both men was much appreciated.

On Sunday evening Rev. McVety spoke at a service in West Guilford sponsored jointly by the Gospel Chapel and the Full Gospel Lighthouse. Those gathered listened attentively as Rev. McVety explained briefly about the work of Richmond College and the hopes for the future. Mr. McVety, M.A., is also the Editor of the Evangelical Christian, published bi-monthly in Toronto.

ST. PAUL'S ANGLICAN CHURCH NEWS

St. Paul's Appointment
The Rev. Kenneth Thatcher has appointed Mr. Douglas McGee as Rector's Warden for 1968. He will be working for St. Paul's with Mr. J. O. Jackson who, as reported last week, was elected by Vestry as the People's Warden. Everyone wishes these two gentlemen well in the tasks that lie ahead, and are grateful that they have accepted the responsibility which their offices demand. The many hours which the Wardens have to devote to the Church is often forgotten by the people who form the congregation.

Help From The Young Folk
St. Paul's has been glad to open its doors to the flourishing groups of Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies, who meet once a week in the Parish Hall. As a measure of their appreciation, they have decided to lend a helping hand. The Scouts have offered to do any painting or odd jobs needed; the Guides and Brownies are going to look after the flower beds around the Church and the Cross on the river bank.

and the Cubs' contribution will be to keep the grass on the bank in front of the Church mowed. These projects were not urged upon them, and it is worthy of the great movement they belong to, with its tradition of doing a good deed every time the opportunity arises. The people of St. Paul's are most grateful. Each of these groups are always eager for new recruits, and parents are urged to send their children along to join in the fun they all seem to have each week, while at the same time learning a great many things, not the least of which is service to others.

Installation Of Officers

The officers elected at St. Paul's Vestry Meeting in January were to have been installed at the 11 o'clock service this coming Sunday. In view of the fact that the Winter Carnival is to take place this weekend, the installation will take place on Sunday, February 18. The presentation of pins to last year's Church School children will take place on Sunday, February 11 at 11 o'clock. Parents of all these children are earnestly asked to attend to support their young ones, and to show that they are proud and interested.

World Outreach

The Parish of Minden has accepted this year as part of its responsibility some measure of financial support for four projects outside the Parish, two of which are in Canada and two overseas. In Canada, it is contributing to the support of the Parish of Cardiff and Monmouth, which is centred in the Church at Wilberforce; this Parish having been for many years a responsibility of the Mission Board. Also, the Church at Coppermine in the Diocese of the Arctic has been selected as part of the programme. Those outside the boundaries of Canada are the Church in Uganda and a Theological College in the Barbados. The Ugandan project is allied to the support of the Rev. John Thompson, the son of Canon John Thompson, who preached the sermon at the Introduction Service last year of the Rev. Kenneth Thatcher at St. Paul's. The congregation at St. Stephen's, Boskung have taken as their particular part of this work the support of Coppermine in the Arctic. Recently the Bishop of the Arctic was here for a Confirmation Service, and in his sermon spoke of the work being done so far north of us in Coppermine, and fired everyone with a desire to help the people there. It is most encouraging to find a small Parish such as this taking to heart the words of the Archbishop of Canterbury: "The Church that lives to itself will die by itself".

St. Stephen's, Boskung

For a long time the people of St. Stephen's have been unhappy with their old reed organ. At their Vestry Meeting last month, it was decided to purchase an electronic organ, and last week one was installed on an approval basis. This was used for the first time last Sunday, and drew many comments from the congregation on the great improvement in the quality of the sound, not only in the organ itself but in the singing of the people.

Practical Christianity

The work was inspired by the incredible feat performed by Dr. Christian Bernard and his staff of technicians and nurses in the successful heart transplant at Cape Town, South Africa, last month.

The transplanted heart came from a 25-year-old woman killed in a car accident. The beneficiary was a 53-year-old man named Louis Washkansky. The dramatic event took place December 3, 1967 — a date that will have a lasting niche in medical history. Washkansky lived 18 days with another person's heart replacing his own.

There are several interesting spiritual parallels to this amazing achievement. One is that God has been in this business of transplanting new hearts for centuries, for He said, "A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you." (Ezekiel 33:26).

Only God can perform this amazing surgery. He has successfully accomplished it for millions of Christians who today can readily testify to that fact.

Where did this new heart come from that Christians have received? There must be a benefactor. Someone must die that another might live. This is so beautifully taught in God's Word. Jesus Christ is the "perfect" One. He is called the "Lamb of God" because He was the Benefactor chosen to save us from eternal death. He was destined to die on the cross that we might have life — eternal life! But this was no accident. He deliberately gave Himself that we might have this eternal life.

One might actually say that Mr. Washkansky was "born anew" in a physical sense. But when we receive Christ, we receive a greater "born-again" experience. It is a spiritual accomplishment extending into eternity.

In order to appreciate more fully what this means, observe again those words in Ezekiel. "A new heart also will I give you, and A NEW SPIRIT WILL I PUT WITHIN YOU." You see, Mr. Washkansky received a new physical heart but did not receive the "spirit" of the young lady who was his benefactor. But when God places His Son into our lives, we become new creatures in Christ Jesus (11 Corinthians 5:17). So here we have a miracle that far transcends the wonderful achievement of Dr. Bernard.

The word "heart" as used in Biblical terminology goes deeper than the physical organ. It represents the centre of man's life, his true character, the seat of his moral and spiritual life. It includes his emotions, his reason, and his will.

God's reason for transplanting new hearts into His patients is that the old hearts are spiritually diseased: "The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it?" (Jeremiah 17:9). That heart, hardened by sin, will keep you from possessing everlasting life. You will die in your sins. Therefore, you too need a transplant.

But delay can be serious. For, you see, it was also necessary that the beneficiary consent to the surgery. He had to believe in what seemed impossible. It had never been done before. He had to believe there was no other recourse left but this untested route. What implicit faith he placed in the surgeon!

We too must place our faith in God's ability to accomplish the miraculous. But it is not an unproven route, as millions who have successfully received a "new heart" from God will gladly confirm.

"But as many as received him (Christ) to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (John 1:12). How is it with your heart?

THE MASONIC LODGE

The period between 1900 and 1903 saw the erection of two new saw mills in Haliburton, which of course meant an increase in the population of the village. Among these newcomers were several who belonged to the Masonic order, and they with the Masons who were already there decided to apply for a charter. This was granted and in due course North Entrance Lodge No. 463 was instituted, with William Giles, M.D., as Worshipful Master.

A framed photograph of the majority of members of that first Lodge was a prized possession of Mr. J. A. Lucas, and hung for years on his office wall. Dr. Giles was followed in office by Mr. Ralph Clarke, who was Master again in 1907. Mr. Clarke was engineer on the Lindsay Haliburton train. The year 1907 saw Mr. Sidney Johnston, mail clerk (who lived in the Fred Dover house), as Worshipful Master. Mr. Johnston played the piano and gave music lessons. In 1908 Mr. G. H. McBrien was Worshipful Master — (would that be Harry McBrien who lived by the school?). That year my father, H. H. Clarke, who was first Treasurer, became Secretary. Treasurer, an office he held until his death in 1923.

In those days his office must have entailed the provision of refreshments for St. John's Night. As almost everyone made their own bread in those days (their own yeast too, for that matter) and the usual refreshments served at a social gathering was salmon sandwiches, an "extra baking" was necessary. As a consequence the bread was made and the sandwiches cut and spread at our house. For a long time because of this, we held the rather unorthodox view that this particular Saint's Day was celebrated as a feast of salmon sandwiches in the night by the Masons. The only other thing we knew about the Masons was that they rode a goat — the only Masonic secret we were allowed to share.

The Mason's first Lodge Room was a house at the turn of the road behind the Church, and beyond Mrs. Lane's house. This was another place familiar to us, a very small children. The original owner of the place was Mr. Worley, sexton of the Church and caretaker of the Town Hall. He was a skilled cabinet maker and must also have done weaving, for a small sign on his gate proclaimed "J. Worley, Weaver". We were taken on walks to see Mrs. Worley, whom I can remember walking about on our law, admiring the flowers in our garden. They seemed very old and were, I realize now, a quaint pair. What became of them? Did they die about this time that their house was available? At any rate it was in Mr. Worley's house that the Masons of Haliburton commenced their activities.

North Entrance Lodge made their first ceremonial appearance in public at the funeral of Frank McIntyre's father. This entailed assembling at the Lodge Room and marching in full regalia through the village to the Methodist Church (it stood where the Red Cross Hospital now stands). Flags were at half-mast and the stores were closed. When they passed our house we were very much astonished to discover our own father among them, wearing a beautiful blue leather apron. And around his neck was a long blue ribbon, from each end of which hung a pen.

After the Stewarts moved to Bobcaygeon to live, and Newnham was occupied only as their summer home, the balls and parties and concerts which had made Haliburton such a gay and lively place perforce came to an end. The Kickapoo Indian Medicine Show, Uncle Tom's Cabin and a Magic Lantern Show was the only form of entertainment other than the local dances and card parties held in the town hall. The Masons sought to remedy this by bringing in high class entertainers from Toronto as a public service, being well satisfied if they broke even on their venture or even went a bit in the hole.

One of the first artists who honoured us with her presence was Miss Pauline Johnson. This was a great event in our lives for we all had tickets and sat well up front. This year was likely 1904. For "The Song My Paddle Sings" Miss Johnson wore a magnificently beaded buckskin costume, her hair in braids on her shoulders, and a band with a feather in it around her head. And she carried a paddle. Wearing the same costume she recited:

Captive! Is there a hell to him like this? A taunt more galling than the "Huron's Hiss"! Her eyes flashed, and she looked so fierce that we were a little frightened. For her other readings she came out on the stage looking very regal in a magnificent evening gown of rich pink satin. This time her hair was dressed high on her head. An evening we have never forgotten. If I remember correctly the hall was packed.

The Masons also sponsored Bengough, the famous cartoonist. His artistic skill plus his ability to cartoon a local character or situation without giving offence made him very popular. Two of them are still remembered after these many years. One concerned the Rev. John Lindsay, the Anglican clergyman, who wore whiskers in a style known as Dundreary, which were quite long but covered only the side of his face, leaving the lip and chin bare — an easy object to recognize. The second was Bill Barnum, the brakeman on the local train, depicted talking to a girl on the platform at Lochlin or Gelert, the train meanwhile steaming away and Ralph Clark looking out from the cabin of his engine with a very broad smile. Not very funny by today's standards perhaps, but highly amusing to his audience. Mrs. Lindsay was delighted with the one of her husband, which one of his parishioners bought from the artist and presented to him. It hung on the wall of his study and we were invited in to look at it when we went for our music lessons. There were at least a dozen cartoons in all.

A comedian by the name of Will White, with a great variety of costumes parodying the English, Irish Scotch, Dutch and Negro, sang, danced and recited for our enjoyment and was a great success. I suppose someone acted as chairman on these occasions. There may have been other entertainers who came, but these three I remember. Whoever came was the best obtainable at the time, and we were one with the great world "out front" for one evening at least.

To verify some of the statements in the above article, an appeal was made to an old friend and school-mate who started his career in store-keeping under my late father's able guidance. Frank is surely living proof that "a merry heart goes all the way". Thanks to Frank McIntyre's good offices this story of the early history of North Entrance Lodge is concluded with a list of those who had the honour to serve as Worshipful Master over the years until the year when Frank himself held office: 1903 - G. H. McBrien; 1909 - John B. Anderson; 1910 - John Lucas; 1911-12 - Dr. J. H. Soady; 1913-14 - John T. Laking; 1915 - G. H. McBrien; 1916 - W. R. Curry; 1917 - J. H. Austin; 1918-19 - R. Johnston; 1920 - H. B. Feir; 1921 - A. H. Jewell; 1922 - Alex Speirs; 1923 - Arthur Batchelor; 1924 - Karl Hadley; 1925 - Frank McIntyre.

R. W. Bro. Frank McIntyre writes that nowadays the Masons sponsor the Blood Donor's Clinic. One can well imagine with what approval the founders of North Entrance Lodge would regard that project.

Haliburton News Letter

The new steeple that has been erected atop the United Church in Haliburton is evoking much favourable comment, and those responsible for its erection are to be commended. We are sure when our summer guests arrive in the holiday season they will be pleasantly surprised with the new renovations that have taken place in the auditorium, and while there is still much to be done further repairs will not conflict with worship services. The ozite carpeting which covers the entire floor along with the fine plastering job that has been completed greatly enhance the appearance of the auditorium, and when the new memorial windows are installed the congregation of the United Church will find themselves worshipping in an atmosphere of dignity and beauty.

We were in attendance at the Art Center on Saturday evening, January 27 to listen to a lecture and for a demonstration of print-making in connection with the Fourth National Burnaby Print Show, which was sponsored here by the Haliburton School of Fine Arts. Due to illness Mrs. Katja Jacobs-Kennedy, who was slated to give the lecture, was unable to be present. Mrs. Carole Finn, after informing those present of the situation, stated that we were fortunate in securing Mr. Paul Bennett, Director of the Art Institute of Ontario, to give the lecture. Mr. Bennett proved to be a most entertaining and informative speaker, and one who had the gift of answering questions concerning art in a most pleasing manner. The writer, whose knowledge of art is very limited, enjoyed every minute of the lecture, and it is our opinion that those responsible for this first exhibition of art in Haliburton would be more than pleased with the splendid attendance on that night.

You never miss the water till the well goes dry, as the old saying goes. Yes, the Dysart Municipal Telephone System is no more, and many feel that we will get better service under the Bell Telephone System. No one can block for long the march of progress and no doubt dial phones in most cases will be welcomed but certain advantages that we now enjoy will be missing. During the years that we have been in business we have always received excellent service from the operators stationed in Haliburton, Minden, Maple Lake and Wilberforce. Many people will be at a disadvantage when the doctor is needed in a hurry until they get used to the dial phones. Fire calls also present another problem but in case of fire the Bell have a system whereby six telephones will ring simultaneously; the first person answering will press a button attached to the phone which will sound the siren immediately alerting other members to the fact that there is a fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Burk have been watching two birds which have been hanging around their place and they took them for ravens, but when they saw them sitting on the top of corn stalks and heard them cawing they are convinced that these birds are crows. I guess these feathered friends have not been reading the weather forecasts.

IN MEMORIAM

CRUKSHANKS — In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Francis (Maymie) Cruikshanks, who passed away February 11, 1962.

A wonderful Mother, gone to rest. For all of us, she did her best. Sweet is the spot where our Mother is laid.

Where often in silence a visit is paid To place a flower in memory of thee,

A Mother never forgotten, and never will be.
— Lovingly remembered by the family.

HOWE — In loving memory of our dear son, Jack, who passed away February 4, 1945.

There's a place set apart in the depths of our hearts, A corner that's always your own; No one can replace it nor time erase it.

We keep it for you, Son, alone.
— Still so sadly missed by Mom and Dad.

PEARSON — In loving memory of a dear husband, Harry Pearson, who passed away February 6, 1958.

Gone, dear Husband, gone forever, How we miss your smiling face, But you left us to remember None on earth can take your place;

A happy home we once enjoyed— How sweet the memory still— But death has left a loneliness The world can never fill.

— Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his Wife and Family.

Monmouth Council

Minutes of the Monmouth Township Council Meeting held in the Council Chambers on February 5, 1968 at 7:30 p.m. with all members present.

Mr. Fred Taylor was appointed to the Monmouth Recreational Committee as a representative of the Council.

Mr. Arnold Stamp was authorized to make purchases of sundry supplies for the Fire Hall in Tory Hill.

The Building Inspector asked Council for guidance regarding dilapidated buildings in the area in accordance with Section 6 of By-Law No. 817-66. A motion was passed requesting a visit from the Fire Marshall to inspect the dilapidated buildings in co-operation with the Building Inspector.

Mr. Ken Sanderson, President of the Wilberforce Branch of the Red Cross Society, requested support from the Council to retain the Red Cross Home Nursing Service. It is the opinion that the new County Health Unit will be unable to provide adequate service comparable to the necessary services we now receive.

Further information from the Department of Lands and Forests is being sought regarding a proposed camp-site as presented in the January 8th meeting.

The Clerk was requested to write to Mr. K. R. Williams, D.H.O. Kingston, asking for an explanation of the delay in posting speed limits for the Tory Hill area. Negotiations regarding speed limits in Wilberforce and Tory Hill were instituted by the Council. Wilberforce was posted early in 1967.

By-Law No. 3-68 was prepared for Department of Highways approval for 1968 road maintenance.

A letter was received from the Department of Lands and Forests regarding surveys and negotiations by the 1967 Council for the development of Little Esson Lake. The Department stated that 50 lots are planned on this lake, and if Council will obtain the right-of-way they will supply the cost of road. The Clerk will inform that attempts are underway to obtain the right-of-way.

The following accounts for the month of January were accepted: Relief $209.50, Roads $1,819.07, and General $360.02.
